[7] 次の英文を読んで後の問いに答えなさい。

A young married couple entered a restaurant in Tokyo Disneyland. A waiter showed them to a *table-for-two and handed them a menu. They ordered two lunches, one A set and one B set. Just before the waiter walked away from the table, the wife said, "Can we have a child's lunch?"

At the restaurant, it was printed on the menu that only children under nine years of age are *allowed to order the special child's lunch. The waiter *politely told the young couple, "I'm sorry, but ①you can't order a child's lunch. The reason is written on the menu. And anyway, I think the meal is too small for adults." When the couple heard that, they looked very sad. The waiter was surprised and wanted to know why they were so *disappointed. He asked, "Excuse me, but who will eat the child's lunch?" The wife said, "We wanted to have a baby for a long time, but we couldn't easily have one. At last, we had a daughter. But she was very weak and didn't live to her first birthday. ② (about / death / months / we / sad / her / for / were). But these days, we have been in good *condition. Today is the date of her birth. So we came here to remember her. At the Disneyland gate, we were handed a map, and it showed that this restaurant served special lunch-sets for children. We wanted to eat it with her so that we would have good memories...." Then sadly, they both looked down at the table.

After the waiter heard their story, he said, " (③) Please change your seats." ④He guided them to a *table-for-four and put a child's-chair between them. "This is a seat for your daughter." Soon the lunches they ordered for themselves and one child's lunch were brought to the table. The waiter smiled and said, "Please have a good time with your family."

A few days later, the restaurant received a letter from the young couple. It said, "We were very moved by your kindness. When we were eating the child's lunch, we couldn't stop the tears running down our faces. ⑤(daughter / dreamed / we / a / time / our / having / with / never / wonderful / of / such). Someday, ⑥we will surely take her brother or sister to your restaurant. Thank you very much for your warm service."

語注 table-for-two 2人用テーブル allow 許す politely 丁寧に
disappointed がっかりした condition 健康状態 table-for-four 4人用テーブル

[8] 次の英文を読んで後の問いに答えなさい。

My story

There is an old woman who lives alone. Her house is in front of my house.

On New Year's Day, it snowed a lot. The next morning, I cleared away the snow in front of my house and the old woman's house. Every year, every time it snows, I do the same thing. Of course, she herself clears away the snow, but the area she clears away is just in front of the entrance of her house. The reason I clear away the snow in front of her house is to make it easier for me to put my car in the garage. ①If I don't, I can't. As a result, the snow in front of her house is all cleared away. Though I do that just for myself, the old woman thinks it is for her and thanks me. The neighbors also think ②so. Anyway, when it snows again, I will do the same thing.

Another story

On January 1st, it snowed a lot. The next morning, Masao was told by his father to go to his grandmother's house to clear away the snow in front of her house. She is 85 years old and lives alone. Her house is three hundred meters from his house. When he got to her house, the snow was already cleared away. He thought ③she is too old to clear away the snow. He was sure that someone came here to help her. He wondered who did it.

Masao went into her house, and asked her who cleared away the snow. She said, "Oh, it was Haruka, a high school student. She did it for me. This winter, she often came to my house when it snowed. At first, I didn't know who did it, but today, I wanted to know who cleared away the snow in front of my house, and so I waited for the person to come. When she came here, I thanked her and asked her name.

On January 3rd, it snowed a lot again. ④Masao went to his grandmother's house as soon as it stopped snowing. When he got to his grandmother's house, Haruka was already there. He started working with her and asked, "Why do you clear away the snow here? Did anyone ask you to do this?" She answered, "No. I'm a member of a volunteer group in this city. Our group has done many things to help other people in this town. I really enjoy doing things like this. *In a sense, I am doing volunteer work for myself, not only for other people. There are many things which I have learned from volunteer work. I also feel happy to see other people's happy faces. So I should thank them."

⑤He was very surprised at Haruka's words.

There is ⑥the same thing in these two stories. But *basically, ⑦the two stories are different. ⑧There are a lot of things we can do as volunteers around our community. Have you ever done volunteer work? What was it like? If you have never done it, what work would you like to do?

語注 community 地域社会 in a sense ある意味では basically 基本的に
